

"If it's just the AI tool which is well built out but I have to still manually put stuff in there and it's not proactively telling me, it's not worth"

-Nick, QBO user

How Might We

Design a proactive AI that automatically provides valuable insights without requiring the user to enter data manually?