

How Might We?

Help users establish trust in the system?

Trust via sources

The design displays sources so that users can understand underlying data that was used to do calculations. This helps in establishing trust

